Berry killed in Hotel Room

Rome man murdered several days ago at Norfolk.

Crime discovered Tuesday

Corpus of Aliston H. Berry, of Rome, Ga., found in room at Fairfax Hotel—Berry left Rome for the North some weeks ago.

Norfolk, Va., October 22.—Aliston H. Berry, who registered from Rome, Ga., was found murdered tonight in a room at the Fairfax hotel. He had been dead several days.

While there is no question in the mind of the police that Berry was murdered, there is absolutely no clue to the perpetrator of the deed. One shot went in the back of the head, which was deemed sufficient to cause death and in the opinion of physicians it could not have been self-inflicted.

Rome, Ga., October 22.-(Special)—Information was received here this afternoon by telegram to Chief of Police H. H. Wimpee that A. H. (Bose) Berry, son of George Berry, of this city, had been found dead in his room at the Hotel Fairfax, Norfolk, Va. An examination disclosed that he had been knocked on the head by a blunt instrument and robbed. His money and diamond stud were gone. The remains will be brought to Rome for interment. Mr. Berry left Rome about three weeks ago on a trip north and had stopped by Norfolk to visit the Jamestown exposition. He was expected home tomorrow.
